Jaycees endorsing school bond issue

The Romulus Jaycees have endorsed passage of the Romulus School District's proposed $11.5 million school bond issue June 11.

The action was taken after Carl Morris, treasurer of the Romulus School Board, explained the need for more money for construction in the district.

According to Morris, the district needs three new elementary school and one junior high school in the near future.

(See editorial on Page A-4.) Morris said 290 students were added to the district during the past year, and another 300 students are expected next year.

In addition, the district expects between 4,700 and 5,000 new students during the next five years.

According to Morris, grades six, seven, eight and nine will be put on split sessions at the junior high school, with the sixth and seventh grades attending school from 7 a.m. to noon and the remaining

Festival canceled; Parade set

Although the Romulus Jaycee Spring Festival has been canceled, due to bad weather, the Jaycees will be holding their parade tonight.

Marchers will begin at 5 p.m., from the Kennedy Park near Five Points in Romulus, and march through downtown Romulus to the Romulus City Hall.

Featured in the parade will be bands and marching units from Romulus High School (Continued on Page A-3) grades attending school from 12:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Passage of the issue will cost homeowners between $36 and $40 per year, according to Morris. Approximately 75 per cent of the millage will be paid by business.

IN ENDORSING the issue, the Jaycees said: "The information indicates the critical need for new school buildings and more classrooms.

"It is up to all of the responsible citizens of Romulus to pitch in and actively work for the passage of this important bond issue."

The Jaycees have urged all citizens to talk with friends and encourage them to vote yes.

Remember," said the Jaycees, "the central question is not 'How much will it cost if

Former state senator runs for post as mayor

Terry L. Troutt, former Romulus Township Supervisor and Democratic state senator, today announced his candidacy for Romulus mayor.

"I have decided that the city of Romulus is in a shocking state of backwardness," said the former township supervisor. "The last three years under the current administration have been backward years for our city. The administration has abandoned community development and the people of Romulus.

"The constant bickering by the mayor and council has deadlocked all possible progress and has given the city the most disgraceful record in the state of Michigan."

TROUTT SAID he foresook his political retirement after several weeks of deliberation to topple the "disjointed Carmichael regime" which he claims has "tragically strangled" the city's image. Troutt was Romulus Township Supervisor from 1955 to 1963 and a Michigan State Senator from 1963 to 1964.

He claims that he record as supervisor, when he implemented 78 miles of water main trunklines, and as State Senator, when he claims he compiled "the amazing record of having 10 bills passed out of the sponsorship of 12" shows his ability to take over the city's reins.

"The first thing we want to do is regain the faith of our people and to start our city moving together and forward again," he said.

HE WOULD accomplish his end by running the so-called "Troutt Team Ticket" consisting of candidates for clerk, treasurer and several council spots in the Aug. 7 primary election. To demonstrate the new unity he claims he'll bring to city government, Troutt promises a massive filing for office by all team members prior to the June 19 filing deadline.

"The team idea will give us unity and leadership to work together and to regain our progress," explained Troutt. "The present administration has forfeited leadership by their anger and hate of one another."

"They have shown themselves to be a losing administration and, unfortunately, have projected the same image on Romulus."

Among the promises Troutt has made, if elected to office, is to chop between five and seven mills from the city budget.

"THE MILLAGE is being used to install water and sewer pipelines for building projects and the builders should be paying for it, not the people," said Troutt.

When he proposed the first water system for Romulus, in 1957 Troutt promised to remove the millage pledged for the system's construction as the system became self-supporting.

During 1963, Troutt dropped the water and sewer millage by one, but he claims the new supervisor added the millage on to the taxrolls.

"THE SYSTEM has been self supporting for some time, but the people are still paying the additional seven mills," he contends. "In continuing the millage, the administration has defied the people and favored the building contractors who incur a profit at the taxpayers' expense."

Besides the tax problem Troutt sees for Romulus, the candidate sees a "definite lack of planning in the city."

"We immediately need a master city plan, which has been totally disregarded," he said. "We need a city planner and a city industrial coordinator to plan for future industry."

"Under present conditions new industry and builders have shunned our city like the plague."

"FURTHERMORE, there has been no road paving or improvement, even though this can be done without an increase in taxes. And our recreational facilities for our growing number of children is nonexistent, even though federal money is available for this purpose."

"They have done nothing for the city's youth."

Troutt has also served as a president of the Democratic Club, chairman of the 16th District Democratic Organization and has been active in the Detroit Skilled

City council to discuss massive street program

The Romulus City Council will be asked next week to consider approving a massive street improvement program which will see 11.93 miles of the city's roads hardsurfaced.

A council-administration study committee, consisting of Councilman James Stewart, Councilman William Oakley, DPW Director William Pritula, David Paul, assistant DPW director and a representative of the city's engineering firm, came up with the program.

Major portions of Beverly, Wick, Goddard and Wabash roads are suggested for resurfacing in the proposal.

TO FUND the proposal, the committee recommended using $250,000 of a $300,000 road resurfacing appropriation from the 1972-73 budget and another $480,120 from the city's 1973-74 proposed budget.

All funds will come from the city's share of the Michigan highways gas and weight tax allocation.

The recommendation for improvements calls for surfacing roads with asphalt at a width of 22 feet, enough for two 11-foot lanes.

According to the study committee report, the resurfacing program will permit a type of minimum maintenance use of the roads for a period of from eight to 10 years.

AMONG THE roads slated for resurfacing under the study committee report are Douglas, 23; Vicki, 22, and Philip, 17. HE IS THE owner and manager of the E & B Manufacturing Co. in Romulus. He holds a bachelor

Two Huron residents vie for school board

By HENRY CANTIN

Huron School District's annual election to be held Monday will see two area residents vying for a four-year vacancy on the Board of Education.

The two candidates are incumbent Carlton K. Rush, 48, of 29620 King Rd., Romulus, and Olaf McDavie, 47, of 30362 West Road, New Boston, who is making his second bid for a school board post.

Rush, has been a resident of the community for 19 years. He and his wife, Dorothy, are the parents of three children: Douglas, 23; Vicki, 22, and Philip, 17.

HE IS THE owner and manager of the E & B Manufacturing Co. in Romulus. He holds a bachelor

3 candidates seek area school board position

Three candidates have filed for the two vacancies on the Romulus Board of Education. Each candidate seeks a four-year term on the June 11 ballot.

Heading the trio is incumbent Carl W. Morris, 13599 Huron River Drive, Romulus, who has served on the board, with the exception of one term, since 1947.

Seeking public office for the first time are LaVerne McGee, 35504 N. Alexander, Romulus, and Gloria M. Chandler, 9261 Ozga Rd., Romulus.

MORRIS, long active in school affairs, sees the school bond proposal as major issue in the district and has come out strongly in favor of the proposed bonding, citing the need for additional classroom space in the district.

Mrs. McGee, the mother of four school-age children, sees no definite issues in the district, however she expresses concern for overcrowding and sees need for leadership.

Mrs. Chandler, mother of two school-age children and a pre-schooler, feels that better teacher-parent relationships are needed in the district, and also sees the need for more unity on the school board. She said teacher tenure should be reexamined and sees the need for the bond issue. However, she feels that the unresolved busing issue will add difficulty in passage of the bond proposal.

Morris, a lifetime resident of the community, has received the endorsement of the Romulus Democratic Club. He is president of the Huron Valley Oil Company, Flat Rock, and is the father of four sons.

CANDIDATES for the election have been interviewed in recent weeks by the Romulus Association of Public Affairs Committee (RAPAC).

Also included are Ozga from Wick to McBride; McBride from Ozga to Shook; Shook from Tobine to McBride; Chase from Hannan to the I-275 freeway and Ozga from Fivepoints to the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

Suggested for improvement Olive from Grant to Goddard; Shook from Bibbins to Goddard; Wabash from Grant to Goddard; Bibbins from Goddard to Wayne; Wabash from Hannan to Huron River Drive and Cogswell from Wabash to its southern end.

SUPERIOR from Hannan to Cogswell; Wade from Hannan to Cogswell; Conover Pl. from Wade to Superior; Shook from Goddard to the I-94 expressway; and Goddard from the C & O Railroad eastward and from Middlebelt to Inkster also are slated for development.

The council will be asked to review the project and then to authorize letting bids on portions of the project. If bid letting takes place within the next two months, the project could be completed before the winter.

Polish residents satisfy old world customs

By MITCH KEHETIAN
Enterprise-Roman Editor

In the early 1900's Polish immigrants in search of religious freedom began arriving in large numbers...and those with farming skills came to the Belleville-Romulus area.

For many of these early pioneering Poles, the farms offered them a feeling of security — a security denied by the then anti-immigrant mood of rural Western Wayne County.

And it was not until 1941 that these early pioneering Polish-American farmers organized a Polish National Alliance lodge to satisfy their old world customs.

FORMATION of the alliance unit was a patriotic mood to support the Polish government-in-exile, a democracy that felt the crush of Nazi tanks and terror.

The Nazis are gone, a new "ism" has taken over Poland — but Sunday, 15 young Americans of Polish ancestry accepted the challenge to perpetuate a rich cultural history...and freedom.

Meeting at the P.N.A. Hall in Belleville, the

Pioneers find security in Romulus-Belleville

15 young scholars were urged to "pick up the torch of education and freedom — and in doing so, to preserve a culture the Nazis and Communists have failed to destroy."

THE SCHOLARSHIP recipients, coming from area high schools, are college-bound students.

And they vowed to keep in mind that the scholarships were made possible from the "sweat" of hard-working Polish Americans in the Belleville-Romulus area.

And Dr. Andrew Ehrenkreutz, professor of Near East Studies at the University of Michigan, who survived a Nazi prison camp during World War II, stressed: "Some people can buy their way to the top, but the true way of getting to the top is through higher education."

"The men and women who made these scholarships never had the opportunity to attain higher education. You are their investment for the future — a future which must include ethnic and social responsibility."

THE PROFESSOR, holder of a doctorate degree from the internationally-recognized University of London, in challenging the young scholars, repeated: "You have a chance at being a generation of intellectual Americans of Polish heritage. Take hold of that opportunity in memory of the nearly six million Poles who died for freedom during the last world war."

Other speakers at the awards banquet included Fabian Polcyn, of the National Academy of Sciences, and Mitch Kehetian, editor of The Enterprise-Roman.

Kehetian stressed upon the scholarship winners to retain their ancestral pride, and to "support the Polish youth movement — a movement which seeks to energize young Americans of Polish origin to learn the language, history and culture of their forefathers."

THE STUDENTS honored at the P.N.A. assembly included Catherine Fleszar, Leonard Wyderko, Mary Ann Bajek, Laura Pasternak, Suzanne Fleszar, Mary Patchak, Timothy Skszek, Linda Krystyniak, Michelle Szuma, Pamela Bies, Janine Bujak, David Kubiske, Adam Janowski, Ronald Czinski, and Thomas Varcak.

The scholarship program, in its third year, now totals $12,400 in awarded grants.

Entertainment was provided by the Galicia, a Polish folk-dancing troupe and part of the nationally-known Polish American Folk Theater.

The popular dance troupe leaves July 1 for a two month tour of Poland to perform in various villages and cities.

IN ADDITION to the Polish National Alliance lodge serving the area, two other Polish groups perform similar ethnic pride programs. They included the Pulaski Club, and the Polish Legion of American Veterans.

One of the Belleville students to earn a scholarship, Adam Janowski, said: "I'm proud of the National Alliance scholarship. It reflects the spirit of Polish people the world over. Unity, growth, development and education are the key words to success and the Alliance is making pride in being Polish a very popular idea in the Western Wayne County area."

In essence, the Belleville-Romulus area, became Polonia last Sunday...a term used to describe all Polish communities outside of Poland.

And if Sunday's spirited mood is any indication, Polish pride and culture is on the "verge of a new renaissance" and will be championed for by third and fourth generation Americans of Polish heritage.

Local CAP unit assists at site of airplane crash in Ann Arbor

On Wednesday afternoon May 23, a Cessna 310 carrying three passengers crashed in a southern residential area of Ann Arbor, narrowly missing several homes and an elementary school. The three occupants were killed immediately. No persons on the ground were hurt. Among the first persons on the scene were Lt. Col. James Holloway, CAP, Michigan Wing safety officer, and Lt. Col. R.W. Deatrick, CAP, Michigan Wing medical officer and Federal Aviation Administration official. Through these officials, who remained on the scene for most of the evening, a request for Civil Air Patrol assistance was made by the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

The request was relayed, via CAP radio, to Michigan Wing CAP headquarters, where the assistance effort was organized. Due to the distances involved, the radio messages between the crash site in Ann Arbor and CAP Wing Headquarters in the eastern Detroit area had to be relayed through a third CAP radio station located south-east of Ypsilanti.

THIS STATION, operated by Lt. Col. Alan R. Creighton, became the crucial communications link during the late evening as the CAP effort was gotten under way.

Col. Creighton, commander of the Detroit Metropolitan Group 16 of the CAP, was assisted by S.Sgt. Gerald Cubon of Belleville, also a qualified radio operator. Group 16 was the first unit mobilized by CAP for this mission.

The function of the CAP teams was to provide surveillance over the crash site during the night and to preserve the wreckage for the FAA investigators who would arrive the following morning. Without such surveillance, many important parts of the aircraft could have been removed by souvenir hunters and curious spectators. If this had happened, it might prove impossible for the FAA to determine the cause of the crash.

UNTIL THE CAP could take over this duty, the sheriff had to station upwards of 15 deputies at the site. CAP's arrival on the scene freed these officers for other duties.

Overall command of the CAP effort was vested in Capt. Gerald Lawrence, Michigan Wing emergency services officer, from Pontiac. In addition to the personnel from Group 16, Capt. Lawrence had one additional senior (adult) and Cadets from the Pontiac and Ann Arbor areas.

Commanding the Group 16 contingent was S.Sgt. Cubon, in charge of five Cadet (teen-age) volunteers from the Wayne-Romulus Cadet Squadron. Participating were Cadet M.Sgt. Michael Hutchinson of Grosse Ile, Cadet Tech. Sgt. Mark Michaels and Cadet Tech. Sgt. Kenneth Koster, both of Belleville, Cadet 1st Lt. Steven Bowman of Rockwood, and Cadet Airman Ralph Hoy of Gibraltar.

ARRIVING at the crash site at midnight, after a full day of work or school, these CAP members spent the remainder of the cold, rainy night on guard duty.

At 9 a.m. all CAP personnel except the six from Group 16 turned the crash site over to the FAA and departed.

CAP ASSISTS AT CRASH SCENE — Members of Civil Air Patrol Wayne-Romulus Cadet Squadron assisted at the crash scene near Ann Arbor May 16 when a Cessna 310 crashed and killed three passengers. The six volunteers who responded from the local unit are shown at the scene. They are, from for permission to use the township fire hall on Fourth Street to hold a rummage and bake sale on June 2 from 7 a.m. until 4 p.m.

IN MEMORY — A flowering crab tree was recently planted at Haggerty Road Elementary School, Belleville, by staff members and four grade students as a memorial to Eva Marie Richey, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richey, 9984 Hamilton St., Belleville. Eva died of a rare disease which strikes children 8 to 13 years old. Her classmates collected funds and received donations to buy a "living" memorial from a local nursery. The nursery, when apprised of the project, donated the tree. With the parents (standing to the right) is School Supt. Dale E. Kaulitz.

Commissioners, HCMA to discuss park development in Wayne County

Within 30 days a committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and representatives of the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA) will meet to discuss the possible development of more parks within Wayne County boundaries.

The meeting was decided Friday during discussion between the two groups over location of park sites and representation of the governing board of the regional park authority. The county commissioners dispute use of HCMA funds, claiming that Wayne County does not receive a fair return for the approximate $2.3 million it contributes toward the HCMA annual budget in millage payments.

WAYNE COUNTY, the most populous of the five counties which are members of HCMA, is responsible for about 56 per cent of the park authority's revenue, commissioners said. However, only about 2,500 out of 14,000 acres of HCMA developed parkland is located in Wayne County. Also, it is estimated that only 22 per cent of HCMA parkland is in Wayne County, although some 59 per cent of the five-county population resides within Wayne boundaries.

In protest, the commissioners voted last month to file suit challenging the structure of the HCMA board and to withhold millage payments, but later withdrew this decision pending further discussion.

The June 1 actions regarding the funding and structure of the HCMA will come before the board refer the two issues back to his committee while discussions continue.

COMMISSIONER Thomas P. O'Rourke, chairman of the Public Works Committee, said he will recommend that the board refer the two issues back to his committee while discussions continue.

"I think our meeting was very productive," O'Rourke said. "We raised some problems and some needs which I think they did not previously realize, and they seemed cooperative toward our requests."

Eugene J. Ellison, chairman of the HCMA board, said that "certain park policies might need to be changed after 33 years without modification."

"HCMA is willing to look for and reconsider the use of additional acreage within Wayne County to satisfy needs of this heavily-populated area," he said.

The seven-member HCMA board consists of one member from Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Livingston counties, plus two members appointed by Governor William G. Milliken.

Of Romulus man

Accident causes death

An accident that brought fatal injuries to a Romulus resident and injured a Sumpter Township man last Thursday morning on Hannan Road, just north of Barth Road, Belleville, is still under investigation by the Wayne County Sheriff's road patrol division.

Killed in the one-car-crash was Robert Allen Armstrong, 18, of 8085 Hannan Rd., Romulus. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Wayne County General Hospital.

Also injured in the accident and listed in fair condition in the hospital is Robert Gary Labumbard, 22, of 18870 Sumpter Rd., Sumpter Township.

Sheriff deputies said the car the two men were riding in skidded off Hannan Road and rolled into a farm fence, knocked down 60 feet of fencing and then sheared off a utility pole.

The deputies are trying to determine who was driving the car.

Both men were thrown from the car, which was registered to Armstrong, police said.

Romulus teacher retires

Martha Morgan, a teacher in the Romulus School System for the past 26 years, was feted in a retirement party at the Hayti Elementary School in the city.

Students and their parents prepared a surprise party for the teacher, who taught 23 years in Hayti's kindergarten, in the school's multi-purpose room.

Mrs. Morgan, who says she wants to travel in retirement, received a set of luggage from the parents, and also an Outstanding Service Award from Mayor Hyle Carmichael.

Twelve mothers from Mrs. Morgan's kindergarten class planned the program, which included a special cake baked by one of the mothers.

Mrs. Morgan, a teacher for a total of 40 years, plans to retire at the end of this year. Prior to last week's party feting the retiring teacher, the

Bond endorsed

ACCORDING to the Jaycees: "The cost of poor education is astronomical — crowded classrooms, split sessions, half or extended days, poor teaching conditions, lack of teaching materials — all of which contribute to children turning their backs on school."

School Supt. Robert L. McConeghy said passage of the bond issue is a necessity to correct the district's already crowded classroom situation.

"It is imperative that the bond issue passes. Further delay in an affirmative vote will compound our already severe housing problems and greatly increase the eventual cost of construction," he added.

Persons desiring absentee ballots also are reminded the deadline for filing applications for absentee voter ballots is 2 p.m. Saturday at the board of education office.

of science degree in civil engineering, is a graduate of Carson City (Mich.) High School, Taylor University in Indiana, Michigan State University and has attended the University of Maine.

Rush has been elected to the school board in 1965 and 1969. He has held the posts of treasurer, vice president, president of the school board and currently is treasurer.

He is a member of the Lions Club, Wyandotte; Southeastern Chapter of Michigan Society of Professional Engineers, Wayne County Association of School Boards, Methodist Church and the Republican State Central Committee.

"OUR DISTRICT continues to have unresolved problems in financing and staffing," Rush said. "My previous experience on the board of education should be helpful in finding solutions. Also, our community will soon experience unusual growth, which needs sound planning for our schools."

"There is a need for greater communication between the school board and the community," he said. "This includes all its various groups — students, teachers, parents, administration, other employees, and of course other citizens.

"The absence of a contract agreement with our teachers has given us all much concern. Hopefully, we are taking steps which will lead to an early conclusion to these negotiations."

McDAVID has been a resident of the community for the last 20 years. He and his wife, Olga, are the parents of five children: Peggy, 23; Olaf Duane, 19; Bill, 15; Norman, 10, and Gwen, 2.

He is a 1947 high school graduate and attended college in 1951. He is employed as a millwright in Wyandotte. He holds an associate degree in mining and minerals.

McDavid ran for the school board in 1971 and 1972. He has held positions of manager in Little League in Huron Township and assistant scoutmaster in the Boy Scouts. He also took part in the township's drug program.

"I feel that we have enough taxes imposed on the citizens of Huron Township," he said. "A practical attitude toward school financing would generate a better educational without escalating costs to the taxpayers."

Stress party's salvation

Future of State GOP rests with reform

By DON HOENSHELL, Lansing Bureau Chief

First of two-part series
LANSING — Republicans are getting an earful of pragmatism from a group of political hard-noses assigned by Gov. William G. Milliken to separate the future from the past.

That's because the trail leading back to the depression of the 1930s is strewn with Republican corpses.

So here in Michigan is the party of Lincoln, the party of conservative idealists who offered a day's pay for a day's work and which taught that dedication and ambition led to wealth and honor.

THROUGH THE GENERATIONS the Democrats have been the party of the welfare dole, of soaking the rich and the trickle-up economic philosophy, of labor union clout, the party of the masses, washed and unwashed.

Now comes a subcommittee of Milliken's Republican Revision and Development Committee with observations and conclusions that in an earlier day would have brought burning at the stake on the socialistic postoffice steps.

"It would be fair to conclude there exists few, if any, recognizable or identifiable philosophical differences between the two major parties of this country," he report said. "There appears to be a consensus that in terms of philosophy or other identifying factors, it is almost impossible to explain or indicate the differences between the two major parties to the general public.

"IF THERE ARE ANY differences, they rest primarily in the personalities of the candidates running for office in the two parties rather than in the parties themselves.

"The major philosophical distinctions between the two parties, which may have had real meaning some years ago, have faded with both parties blending, making them almost indistinguishable.

"There are perhaps greater philosophical differences between the candidates within each party than there are between the parties."

Thus does ancient heresy become the realism of 1973. The subcommittee on platform issues and philosophy, headed by Berl Falbaum, administrative assistant to Lt.

Gov. James H. Brickley, wants the party to take its head out of the sand.

AND THE FULL COMMITTEE has tentatively approved the Falbaum subcommittee's recommendations that the party platform and resolutions be tossed out in their present forms as useless.

It didn't take genius to reach the conclusions but there was courage in recommending that an ages-old system, however useless, be junked. Falbaum and his gentry had good vibes. They could see that the major candidates of the recent past never — or rarely — ran as a spokesman for their parties.

Senator Robert P. Griffin raised his own money last year, ran his own campaign and in some cases left the party designation off his literature. So did his opponent, Democratic Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley.

GRIFIN AND GOV. WILLIAM G. Milliken both freely admit a philosophical gap — Milliken slightly to the left of Griffin. Labor found itself being ignored by Democrats in 1972 and took a walk.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, easily the most popular politician in Michigan in 1972, was a southern Democrat more philosophically attuned to Republican President Nixon. And on May 16, 1972, Michigan Democrats turned out a 51 per cent landslide for Wallace in the presidential primary.

Milliken, who stayed clear of Mrs. Lenore Romney's U.S. Senate candidacy in 1970 to stay alive in a Democratic state, stayed clear in 1972 of Griffin, Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Philosophically, there was no meeting ground and the whole campaign was based on personality.

Measured on a different scale, the complexity of modern issues has reduced the Republican-Democratic divisions to near zero. What's political about water pollution or partisan about drug abuse, environmental protection or a tax increase for highway improvements?

FALBAUM, A FORMER Detroit newspaperman of great talent, was supported in his study by Robert J. Webber Jr., aide to Senator Carl Pursell, and Mrs. Jo Ann VanTassel.

They all believe the future of the Republican party is more important than the sum of its past and that's where they'd like it to seek its salvation.

And with the early victories, there is encouragement.

Deserves public support

School construction will serve Romulus

When voters in the Romulus Community School district go to the polls Monday, they'll be asked to approve a $11.5 million bond issue to alleviate a critical classroom situation confronting the district.

School Supt. Robert L. McCongley says passage of the bond proposal is imperative, and adds: "Further delay in an affirmative vote will compound our already severe housing problems and greatly increase the eventual cost of construction."

The proposed bonding program calls for the construction of three new elementary schools, and one new junior high facility to meet an expanding school population in the immediate years ahead.

While the proposed $11.5 million bond, to be paid over a 30-year time period, does not include monies to operate the four new schools when completed - the board is hopeful that no new millages will be required for school operating costs.

If all goes according to board planning, the district's increased valuation will cover the operating costs for the four new schools - provided voters next Monday approve the proposal.

Some might tend to question the need to build new school structures at this precise time, but a delay in construction only means putting off what must be done; and if passage comes now, the new school sites will be built at today's market price. Unfortunately there is no relief in sight to stop spiraling construction costs.

Romulus students deserve adequate facilities and if education is to be served, then voters in the district should support the bond proposal at the polls Monday.

No one wants to vote himself added financial burdens, but if citizens of the district has taken that approach in the past-Romulus' present system would have been in disarray.

Each generation must assume its responsibility if the district's education system is to progress and provide the kind of teaching and facilities conducive to progressive education.

So when you go to the polls Monday to support the candidate you deem most qualified to guide the destiny of the Romulus school district - think of the future also and cast a positive vote for school construction.

Segregation dilemma surfaces in South Africa

By JOHN P. McGOFF, President Panax Newspapers (Part 8 of 10-part Series)

CAPE TOWN, SA — Opposition Leader Japie Basson believes the Republic of South Africa is moving too fast toward international relations and too slow in solving its internal problems.

His United Party, led by Sir D.P. deVilliers-Graaff since 1956, is numerically inferior but it makes its points strongly.

Basson, a member of Parliament, was forced to interrupt a recent discussion of South Africa's present and future by bells summoning him to vote on the floor.

But it became clear that style, not goals, separates the United Party from the ruling National Party. It cannot compete in terms of organization, popular support or ideology with the Nationalists.

THE FACT THAT the National and United parties are 1-2 in the political world in South Africa represents a sanction for policies of European-oriented control and points to a near-consensus.

Basson, however, makes the differences clear. Basically, he sketches the following points:

—The United Party feels that the pace of internal reforms can be speeded up. They must be accomplished before South Africa can participate as a full partner in the world community.

It disagrees with the Nationalist policy of separate and parallel development between the whites and blacks, but campaigned in 1966 on "white supremacy at all costs."

The United Party is concerned about the terrorists. If not put down by the government, they say the terrorists will lure a big power in the United Nations into an African adventure under the guise of "freedom."

SOUTH AFRICANS, Basson said, have no imperialist desires such as those dreams brought to Africa and then shattered at the feet of Cecil John Rhodes.

Basson said the opposition might rise from a sense of selfishness, that any expansion "will include blacks and the whole intent is precisely the opposite."

Expansion ideas date back to the time of General Jan Christian Smuts who in 1923 offered Rhodesia fifth province status in the Union of South Africa with 12 seats in Parliament.

"Not only was the National Party in opposition but the vast majority of Africans were quite opposed to it," he said. "What they saw at that stage was more Britishers coming in and also an expansion of the black population."

BASSON SAID South Africans are not thinking in terms of a kind of leadership by a strongman to whom homage is accorded, but one which will provide a trade mechanism and security for the nation.

"What we see as a communist threat is growing," he said. "For all these reasons we believe we will have to establish friendly relations, cooperative direction."

South Africa, Basson said, is like the other multi-national nations of Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia - all with identifiable patterns of peoples, races languages and cultures.

He said the government is right in resisting a nation dominated by one nationalist, but separate development of the whites and blacks is negative.

"WE CAN CREATE an order here, whether it is by way of a federal system or by way of partitioning of some sort," Basson said. "I think we could get some order in South Africa established where the one is not dominated by the other."

"I think our problem, of course, is the color. We've told the government over and over again that it is a standing insult and is seen as a standing insult to the colored races."

He said South Africa can never stand tall at the United Nations until "our own non-white peoples are reasonably satisfied and can cooperate with us."

Basson said the United Party is opposed to one-man-one-vote, that it admires the election of two Senators from each of the United States and the United Nations concept of one vote for each country.

"CHINA with its 800 million, they have one vote and so does a small country," he said. "The reason for that is to prevent people just using a counting of heads, just bulk, in order to dominate the others."

He said that the ruling party in South Africa is losing power among the races because the Parliament is all white and thus "is divesting itself of power," notably in the self governing black homeland of Transkei.

"It is ridiculous for the white man to sit alone and unilaterally work out a blueprint," he said. "The white man in power, whatever party is in power, must have a roundtable conference with an evolving black unit and say 'now, come, how do you think we should go on from here?'"

BASSON SAID he opposes the bringing of blacks and whites into separate areas, that all should stay where they are if they desire and government should consult with all parties before moving forward.

"But the main difference between the opposition and National parties is that we (United Party) don't support apartheid as a dogma," he said.

"You see, apartheid started as a policy of separation based on color. Now that became so dogmatic that it became separation for separation's sake."

"We reject, we reject completely, apartheid as a dogma. So that where we support any act of separateness in a particular sphere, it is not out of a particular dogma but because we are pragmatic and say in this particular case it would be better."

Segregation in South Africa, Basson said, is rigidly enforced. In the United States, he said, the leader of the Zulus can have tea anywhere and go to the opera.

"But if he wants to come to Cape Town, which is actually the capital of the country, there is nowhere in the center of the city where he can have a cup of tea because he is black," he said.

Now what earthly hope have we got to make friends with even the evolving black states in our midst around us if that is the position?"

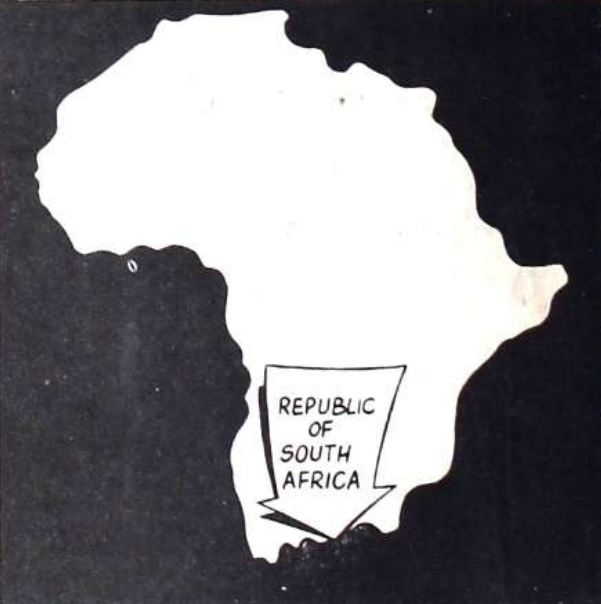

On national security, Basson said, it is already evident that there are forces in Africa who are determined to launch an offensive against the south, that the psychological battle already has begun.

Many world figures and private interests have contributed to "what they call freedom fighters, but what we call terrorists," Basson said it is only a matter of time before the psychological war will be followed by efforts to draw a major power, like China, into the effort.

"I am inclined to say that the position remains extremely dangerous to us in that unless we can break down hostility, there will always be a danger of something - some major power falling for an adventure."

And then Basson answered the bell to vote again in the Parliament - a leader of the opposition.

Church's celebrates opening

If you wanted to build a dog house, panel the den, paint a door or fix the faucet, in the past 20 years you used to go to Building Materials Inc. on Michigan near Merriman in Wayne.

Now that Building Materials Inc. has become Church's Lumber Yards' sixth store, you can still build the doghouse, panel the den or paint the door — and a whole lot more.

You can assemble a prefinished bookcase, hang a wall of beads, create a room divider, buy plumbing supplies for your whole house, get enough house paint to "ruin" three or four weekends with work, or get some bug killer to keep your yard free of pests for a picnic.

Church's is celebrating its grand opening this week with many sales offers.

"BUILDING Materials Inc. had a good reputation with the customers, so we're trying to keep it a lot like it was," Dave Manooch, manager of the yard said.

Church's owns lumber yards in Utica, Auburn Heights, Romeo, Washington, Lapeer, St. Clair and Allen Park in addition to the newest addition in Westland.

Church's plans to add some different kinds of brand-name paint and some more types of merchandise, Manooch said.

In the center of the store, a new home decorator section has been added. Customers can assemble prefinished shelves and wall brackets into rustic bookcases, collect spindles into a colonial room divider, or find light fixtures for a kitchen, bedroom or living room.

AS WELL AS lumber, Church's has paneling of all sorts, plumbing supplies, decorator tile for bathrooms, sinks and vanities, and waterproof walls for the bath. Adding new merchandise and remodeling the store interior to make it pleasanter is how the new owners are planning to make friends with new customers and customers of the previous Building Materials Inc., Manooch explained.

Manooch said new lines of brand-name paint are coming in for the customer who prefers to trust in a brand.

Former Building Materials

owner Benjamin Kronk retired in April after selling the business to the Church's chain.

THEY KNOW THE BUSINESS — Anthony Peterson (right) who has worked for Building Materials Inc. for 13 years and Ed Weins, a 10 year employee, have stayed with the company after a change in ownership to provide the customers with experienced advice on decorating and home repairs. Building Materials which made its home in Wayne for the past 20 years, is now Church's Lumber Yard.

Two members of the Trailbusters 4-H Horse Project Club showed their mounts at the recent Country Fair, which is held annually at the Greenfield Village in Dearborn.

The event depicts a fair as it might have been in older days.

On the final afternoon of the fair a horse show was presented.

Shelley and "Fusileer" placed second in the English pleasure and horsemanship competition. Additional horses were brought to the village for the horse show.

Scouts honor leader

A Brownie fly-up ceremony was held May 21 at Haggerty School during which Michelle Ryan, a Girl Scout, explained the procedure and meaning of the event.

Brownies from Mrs. Sue Pieknik's Troop No. 486 who 'crossed over the bridge' into Girl Scout-hood were Jenna Oliver, Cheryl Neupert and Rebecca Weedon. Girls from Mrs. Barbara Thomas' Troop No. 374 included Denise Bergeson, Tamara Foy, Sue Pietz, Janet Ryan, and Sherry Fitzwilliams.

Hostesses for the occasion were members of Girl Scout Troop No. 668 and their leaders, Mrs. Lou Wilkinson, Mrs. Linda Mason and Mrs. Joyce Phillips.

MRS. WILKINSON, who has been involved with Scouting — both with boys and girls for the past 10 years — was honored for her years of service. Not only was she presented with a 10-year Scout pin from her daughter, Linda, but she also received a yellow rose, a sheet cake decorated with the same floral motif (the official Girl Scout flower), a yellow rosebush, and a black shoulder bag.

Afternoon ceremony unites EMU students

Eastern Michigan University students, Patricia Lynn Wilson and William Allen Stough, exchanged nuptial vows May 26 at Bethany Baptist Church, Belleville. The five o'clock ceremony was conducted by the Rev. John Losen who also was soloist for the occasion, being accompanied by Cynthia Hook. Other music was played by David Carnahan.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilson of 8303 Huron River Drive, Ypsilanti, and Mr. and Mrs. Garlton Stough of 1006 Quirk Road, Belleville, are parents of the young couple who are now making their home at 1886 Packard Road, Ypsilanti.

Carrying a bouquet of white spring flowers with touches of blue, pink and yellow to match her attendants' frocks, the bride walked to the altar with her father. Fresh white daisies and baby's breath were also used to form a crescent headdress for the dark-haired bride.

FOR HER WEDDING DAY, Pat wore a white eyelet gown which had been made by her mother. Accented with satin ribbon on the high-rise bodice and again above the skirt's tiers, the dress was designed with a square neckline and Juliet sleeves.

Wearing identical gowns in blue yellow and pink, also made by Mrs. Wilson, were two of the bride's sisters,

For Marlowes

Acapulco, Mexico is honeymoon site

Acapulco, Mexico was the newly wed Carl D. Marlowes who are now making their home at 201 Henry Street, Belleville.

Sandra K. Pullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S.K. Pullen of 14285 Elwell Road, Belleville, became Mrs. Marlowe in a home ceremony May 5. The five o'clock double ring nuptials were officiated by the Rev. Charles Dibley with approximately 50 guests in attendance.

Stanley Gondek, the bride's brother-in-law, was at the organ to play traditional wedding selections.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, Sandy was gowned in an original creation made by her mother. The toe-touching re-embroidered white satin dress was designed with a scoop neckline and Juliet sleeves edged with a belled ruffle. Accenting the sleeves, waistline and hem were bands of lace interwoven with delicate lavender ribbon.

She wore fresh white mums in her hair and carried cascading white and lavender mums.

As her sister's honor attendant, Mrs. Stanley (Valerie) Gondek of Belleville donned a pale lavender dress fashioned with leg o' mutton sleeves, a scoop neckline and A-line skirt, also made by Mrs. Pullen. Her headdress was in matching fabric and she held a circular bouquet of lavender mums encircled by white mums.

Trudi Smither of Belleville, the bride's best friend, was the only bridesmaid. She, too, wore a gown fashioned by Mrs. Pullen in pale pink with matching headdress and bouquet.

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marlowe of Speedwell, Tennessee, resided at 30974 Wabash, Romulus, prior to his marriage. He chose as his best man, Bob Bonin from Rochester, and as usher, his brother Gene Marlowe of Romulus.

Mrs. Pullen wore for her daughter's wedding a blue double knit formal gown designed with a rib knit top while Mrs. Marlowe chose a blue and white knit skirt and sleeveless blue knit top. Both were honored with orchid corsages.

About 100 guests from Colorado, Georgia, Ohio, Tennessee, and neighboring cities attended the reception which followed.

Both Sandy and Carl graduated from Belleville High School, he in 1967 and she in 1971. She is employed at the University of Michigan Medical School, Ann Arbor, and he is with the Ford Motor Company, Ypsilanti.

Curry in salad is satisfying

When beefed up, a simple salad can become a substantial luncheon entree, for adding cubes of roast beef increases food value as well as flavor. You'll see it happen when you prepare this inviting salad that stretches meat value with macaroni, according to Reba Staggs, National Live Stock & Meat Board.

Curried Beef Salad

1 pound cooked beef, cut in 1/2 to 3/4-inch cubes (approximately 4 cups)

2 cups cooked elbow macaroni
1 medium-sized onion, chopped
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup diced green pepper
1/4 cup sweet pickle relish
1/2 cup salad dressing
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 to 1 teaspoon curry powder

1/4 teaspoon pepper
6 tomatoes, cut in wedges, if desired
6 lettuce cups
Chopped peanuts, if desired
Flaked coconut, if desired.

Combine beef cubes, cooked macaroni, onion, celery, green pepper and sweet pickle relish. Combine salad dressing, salt, curry powder and pepper. Lightly stir seasoned dressing into beef mixture until combined. Chill thoroughly. Serve in lettuce cups on tomato wedges, arranged petal fashion, if desired. Sprinkle chopped peanuts and - or flaked coconut over top of each individual salad, if desired. 6 servings.

It's a boy for Rogalas

Theresa Ann Rogala, who's four years old, has a new baby brother she'd like you to know about. He's Richard Joseph who arrived April 22 at Riverside Hospital in Trenton. His weight was recorded at 6 lbs. - 13 1/2 oz.

Henry and Pat Rogala of 15875 Elm Court, Romulus, are parents of the two youngsters and their grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yonkoski of Hamtramck and Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Rogala of E. Detroit.

Defrosting frozen assets

Freezing beef offers an opportunity to take advantage of specials at the market. Cooking these frozen beef assets is easy. Beef can be defrosted in the refrigerator prior to cooking or during the cooking time. Defrosted roasts require the same time as fresh cuts, while frozen roasts need one-third to one-half more time to attain the degree of doneness desired. The extra time required for broiling frozen steaks varies with the surface area of the cut, the thickness and broiling temperature. Thick frozen steaks should be placed farther away from the heat so they won't brown too much on the outside before attaining doneness inside.

Four weeks vacation spent abroad

TAKING TIME off from work at Micro-Measurements in Romulus, Kathy Lorenz winged her way to London, England where she was met by friends, Peter and Sheila Van De Velde of suburban Ruislip. The couple were returning the hospitality which Kathy had extended during their stay in the States last year.

Among the highlights of her London stay were watching the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace, seeing the House of Parliament in session, shopping on Oxford Street, and visiting Windsor Castle, Westminster Abbey, Trafalgar Square, and Piccadilly Circus. She was also shown London's night life by another friend from London, Raymond Metcalf.

After two weeks in England, Kathy traveled with the Van De Velde to Southern France where they visited with the latter's relatives, Claude and Helen Lambert. The Lamberts, who own a cosmetics factory, showed Kathy through the complex and also presented her with a number of free samples which she distributed to her friends when she arrived home.

From there the threesome traveled through Germany's Black Forest to Vienna, Austria where they saw a training session of the famous Lippizan stallions at the Spanish Riding School and attended several outdoor concerts. Then it was back to England via Spain and a homeward flight for the Romuluses.

Refrigeration is important

Refrigerate fresh mushrooms as soon as possible after you buy them. All mushrooms will eventually oxidize and turn dark but the process is slower under refrigeration. Storage time in your refrigerator is generally from 4 to 5 days. Slight discoloration will not affect the mushroom's flavor but as the degree of discoloration advances there will be a loss of flavor and moisture.

Bottle collectors set show, sale June 9-10

Bottle collecting, a fast growing hobby, is coming to the Detroit area in a big way. The largest bottle show and sale ever to be staged in Michigan will be held in Dearborn Sports Arena Saturday and Sunday, June 9-

10. Hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. Sponsored by the Metropolitan Detroit Bottle Club (MDBC), the largest of 12 bottle clubs in the state, the second annual show will host approximately 100 dealers from 10 area states. More than $150,000 in old and new bottles will be offered for sale. IN ADDITION to the sales area there will be exhibits by bottle clubs and individuals. The best in such categories as historical flasks, medicines, bitters, whisks, fruit jars, insulators, up to the new collectables such as Avons, Beams and Brooks whisks will be featured.

Several area families are involved in production of the MDBC bottle show. Among these are Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Wing of Garden City. Bottle collecting, billed as "America's greatest treasure hunt," is a fun hobby for everyone, an activity that offers much to young and old, man or woman, married or single.

"BOTTLEHOUNDS" — as hobbyists are often called, add to their collections by trading with other collectors, buying from flea markets, junk shops and garage sales. But the most popular way to find bottles is the "dig."

From the abandoned fruit cellars of the Upper Peninsula to the urban renewal areas of downtown Detroit, from the bramble bushes of Massachusetts to the '49er sites of California, bottlehounds are getting out and having fun in one of the few real family hobbies.

THE MDBC is a general category club with - like the show - emphasis on "antique" bottles (those made before 1900). However, clubs representing modern bottle collectors will also have dealers, exhibits and information at the MDBC information booth.

The MDBC, a state-chartered, nonprofit club, promotes the rapidly growing hobby of bottle collecting. Lectures, films and displays dealing with the hobby, as well as bottle auctions, are featured at club meetings.

The MDBC meets the third Tuesday of each month in the Community Room of the Bank of Commerce, 26707 Van Dyke Center Line, two blocks south of 11 Mile Road. There is no admission charge and the public is invited. Meetings begin at 7 p.m.

For more information write the MDBC at 17721 Martin Road, Roseville, Michigan, 48066, or telephone 771-1622.

COLLECTOR'S ITEMS — Bottles such as these are what every collector strives to obtain. The Metropolitan Detroit Bottle Club will hold a show and sale, the largest of its kind ever held in Michigan, at Dearborn Sports Arena Saturday and Sunday, June 9-10. Admission is $1 for adults, 25 cents for children. The club has numerous Western Wayne County members.

Porcupine Mountains popular state park

The rugged, beautiful Porcupine Mountains in the far reaches of the western Upper Peninsula is the setting for one of Michigan's most scenic and popular state parks, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Despite their remoteness from larger Lower Peninsula cities, 300,163 persons visited the Parkies last year, second highest attendance among the Upper Peninsula's state parks.

For sheer beauty, few parks can surpass the Parkies, located 20 miles west of Ontonagon at the terminus of M-107. Within the park's boundaries are lakes, rivers and streams for those in search of such niceties as perch or brook and rainbow trout. Hunters will find deer, grouse and bear hunting during the season.

FOR THE VISITOR, the big attraction is the magnificent view of the Lake of the Clouds from the escarpment. The Carp River, a silver thread, flows through the green valley far below.

A short walk from a parking area will take the visitor to the escarpment for the look at Michigan's highest inland lake. The view is acclaimed as one of Michigan's most scenic spots. Several trails begin here. Some lead to old rock dumps, aged machinery and other evidence of past mining and logging days.

While the Porcupine Mountains, highest land mass between Adirondacks and the Black Hills, were explored thoroughly by miners and lumbermen, these early prospectors failed to establish settlements on the lonely slopes.

A drive on South Boundary Road, which extends east and west along the park's southern boundary before going north to join M-107, goes past stands of high virgin hardwood and hemlock and primeval wilderness. The road was built in the early 1960s, despite some opposition.

THE MAIN campground lies in a circular pattern with one road practically hugging the Lake Superior shoreline. The main pattern ringing the lodge, or service center, from what resembles a modern Indian village.

The campground itself is a comparative dot in the park's 58,327 acres. There are 131 campsites, 95 with electricity and modern facilities including toilets.

Lake of the Clouds, Mirror Lake, Lily Pond and Little Carp River all have overnight cabins which are fully furnished for visitors (except for food and bedding) and can be rented for a small fee by making reservations with the ranger in charge. They are large enough to hold four to eight persons comfortably.

THE HIKING trails are well-marked and vary in length from three-eighths of a mile to eight miles. Not all the trails are safe for small children, for they can change suddenly from a quiet walk in the forest to a breathtaking skim along a cliff's edge. The shoreline of Lake Superior offers miles and miles of pleasant walking for any age. The beach is sometimes rocky, sometimes sandy, and along the shore or at the water's edge are stones too beautiful to pass by.

Also fun to explore are the old copper mine workings found all through the park which are accessible by auto plus some minor footwork.

JULY and August are the months when the park is at its best for scenery, with October also popular for autumn foliage colors.

Modernization fast becoming favorite pastime in nation

Home remodeling is fast becoming an all-American pastime — and a profitable one at that.

A recent national survey predicts that during 1973, a record 105 million home modernization projects — more than two per homeowning family — will be undertaken. They'll range from room additions to gutter installations; cost from $50 to $4,000; and add up to a hefty $22.3-billion market.

The study shows all parts of the country caught up in the remodeling trend, with the Northeast states accounting for about 33 per cent of the market. The Northeast and South will each have about 27 per cent; the West about 13 per cent.

The figures, released by Building Supply News, a leading building materials retailer magazine, were compiled by its affiliate, the Bureau of Building Marketing Research. Working with National Family Opinion, Inc., BBMR queried 1,500 representative homeowning families from all areas of the country.

Survey emphasis was on remodeling attitudes and motivations, and data was obtained primarily through written questionnaires. It drew an unusually high response — 75.5 per cent. Harold J. Sugarman, publisher of Building Supply News, calls it "the most comprehensive study ever made of the home improvement market."

While the type, extent and cost of remodeling differed, respondents seemed to share a basic motivation for modernizing.

When faced with the need for more living space and/or improved living conditions, more than 58 per cent "felt it is more economical and desirable to remodel their present home than to buy a new one."

Remodeling jobs reported for 1972 (and projected nationally) show this breakdown: 3.4 million remodeled kitchens, 2.8 million modernized bathrooms, 2.5 million room additions, 780,000 driveways, 732,000 enclosed porches and breezeways, 341,000 garages, 244,000 carports, 244,000 fireplaces.

THERE WERE also more than 1.2 million heating — and as many central air conditioning — systems installed, 2.7 million roofing applications, 3.2 million paneled wall projects, 927,000 insulation jobs, and 146,000 burglar-fire alarm systems installed.

Remodeling plans for 1973 cover the whole range of improvement and maintenance projects, with kitchen and bathroom remodeling, room additions and interior painting still leading the lists.

SPACE PROBLEM — One of the most pressing "space programs" is underway in American homes. A Building Supply News survey shows that high new home costs are causing many cramped-for-space families to expand their present homes rather than move. The 2.5-million home expansions reported for 1972 included room additions and conversions of basements and attics into living quarters like the attractive family room shown here.

Study shows many kitchens updated in their first year by homeowners

A homemaker's dissatisfaction with her kitchen doesn't depend on its age. Studies show, in fact, that age is seldom a salient factor in kitchen remodeling.

Respondents in a recent national survey of home improvement trends indicated that the percentage of kitchen remodeling in homes from 21 to 35 years old was only slightly higher than in homes less than one year old.

Kitchens in 11 to 20 year old dwellings were as likely to be remodeled as those in homes more than 35 years old. Only owners of one to 10 year old homes seemed happy enough with their kitchens to resist substantial remodeling.

Reasons for the age breakdown vary. A new home doesn't always have a modern kitchen. Also, kitchen preferences differ, and the remodeling of "new" kitchens may reflect the priority placed by homemakers on the room in which they spend much of their time.

Heavy remodeling in the 20 and 30 year groups may indicate appliance obsolescence. Of significance in the overall popularity of kitchen remodeling — the survey shows almost 3.4 million updated in 1972 and indicates it will be a top-rated project in 1973 — is the trend to kitchen beauty and low care.

The home improvement survey — considered the most comprehensive ever made in this field was compiled by the Bureau of Building Marketing Research, an affiliate of Building Supply News, a leading trade publication of building material retailers. Some 1500 householders were queried through National Family Opinion, Inc., with a record 75.5 per cent responding.

These facts on kitchens were disclosed:

More than 56 per cent of the remodeling jobs were do-it-yourself, 21 per cent used some professional help, and 23 per cent were done entirely by "pros."

Remodeling is most often done by middle-income families and in moderately-priced homes. However, slary levels of families engaged in kitchen improvement ranged from less than $5000 to well above $15,000.

Suburbanites do more kitchen remodeling than either city or rural residents.

Remodeled kitchens (and bathrooms) are considered to provide "most good" for the entire family and be "well worth the investment."

In addition to major appliances (refrigerator, range and dishwasher) kitchen improvement often includes: disposal, water heater, garbage compactor, new sink, lighting fixtures, resilient flooring or carpeting, new cabinets, range hood and venting fan.

Prospects for kitchen remodeling often seek ideas and advice from local building material dealers.

REMODELING — Kitchens top the list of popular remodeling projects, says a survey. And, new kitchens are as likely to be updated as those about 20 years old. Most kitchen remodeling aims at beauty, low care, improvement layout and convenient appliances.

Remodeling saves owners money

What are the advantages of buying an old house and remodeling it, rather than buying a new house? First of all, if you're handy, you likely can save money.

If it's a pre-World War II house, the rooms will be larger than more recent construction. You likely can move in immediately, and after living in the house for awhile you'll know exactly what has to be done to suit you.

If you have a warm air heating system which uses ducts, the ducts should be examined periodically for leakage, especially at the joints. You can buy a special cement for re-sealing such joints.

The yard and garden of an older home usually are established, allowing you to plan an outdoor living deck, garden structure or other amenities at your leisure.

It's usually cheaper to convert an attic, basement or garage to new living space than add new construction, and an older home offers one or all of these expansion possibilities.

If the neighborhood is established but not declining, if the house is not too large for easy future resale, if it's structurally sound, and if you're ambitious and handy with tools, then remodeling an older home could be your best bet.

For home, furnishings

Colonial style is favorite

Colonial style homes and furnishings have been a perennial favorite for more than two centuries. The combination of practical Yankee design and casual grace has a timeless appeal for Americans.

Frequently, traditional exteriors or interiors feature a combination of compatible green and gold colors. These basic colors can be accented by black furnishings, or white molding and ceiling tile.

Colonial decor characteristically uses bright metal ornaments to express individual taste. A gold vein ceiling tile works well with brass or copper accessories.

Combined with bright objects on tables and walls, a gold vein ceiling pattern can carry highlights of color and sparkle throughout an entire room.

With exposed beams, a white swirl ceiling tile contrasts crisply with the darker wood color. A random swirl pattern creates the massive mature texture of skip-trowled stucco often found in informal Early American room settings.

Bright color upholstery and pillows complete a colonial motif that is warm and inviting. Attention to accessory details, ceiling tile texture and overall color coordination is the secret to a successful room theme.

For exterior decorating

Plantings soften fence line

A green thumb that encourages flowers and plants to sprout and grow almost magically is a great boon, but there's much more to gardening than just planting, feeding and weeding.

Planning a garden is like exterior decorating, choosing everything in terms of contrasts and complements. This is more complicated than interior design, of course, because everything outdoors changes with the seasons, even week to week.

The gardener intent on creating a pleasing environment will start with a good background, to show off the plantings and fill in as some plants wane. For those who don't know where to begin, a landscape architect can help get the garden off to a good start.

IN ONE charming patio visited recently, the background was a tall solid fence of 1x4-inch western cedar boards set vertically on 2x4-inch stringers, 4x4-inch posts and a 2x4 flat cap.

In addition to affording privacy for the outdoor living area, the fence accents tall and low plants and provides a backdrop for an espaliered carb apple.

The vertical four-inch boards give a lighter touch than wider boards would to a tall, closed fence. Use of resawn lumber - cedar, fir or pine - provides a natural surface to complement garden textures.

The best shades for fences are natural wood tones, accomplished by allowing the wood to weather unfinished or with a light coat of transparent penetrating stain. Repainting a garden backdrop fence can be a troublesome chore.

RAISED planter beds surround the patio and also serve to visually lower the high fence. The planters create a showplace for small but interesting flowers and plants that sometimes get lost at ankle level.

The masonry walls of the planters provide a backrest for attached benches of 2x4-inch Douglas fir, surrounding two sides of the patio. Benches also can be incorporated with planter walls of treated timbers.

Quality tops list for stores

What do homeowners want when they shop at building supply stores?

Here's what Building Supply News, a leading building material retailers magazine, discovered in a recent nationwide survey.

1. Customers want the retailer to stand behind the merchandise he sells.

2. They want retailers to carry quality products.

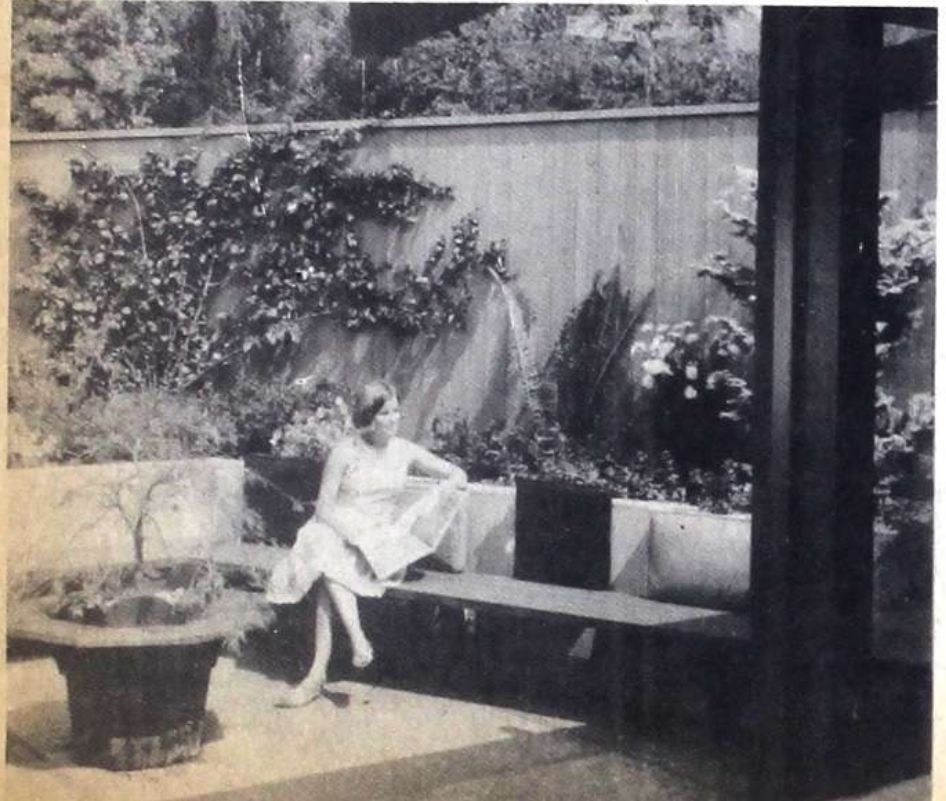

3. They want helpful, informative sales personnel. Many want answers to remodeling questions and help in choosing products.

4. They want a variety of products and materials. Many get remodeling ideas from product displays.

5. Competitive pricing. While homeowners appreciate bargains, the majority decide on quality rather than price.

Other "likes" were: stores that are easy to shop in, free delivery, adequate parking, and credit.

Many families shop for supplies together, so they also prefer stores to have evening and weekend hours.

PLANTS SOFTEN PATIO FENCE — Hand-some fence of 1x4-inch resawn western cedar boards provides privacy, wind protection for patio. Raised planter bed with attached bench of 2x4-inch fir visually lowers fence; espaliers, other plants use fence as backdrop while softening its solid design.

Swimming pool offers high return and fun

Want a high return and fun from an investment?

Buy a home swimming pool. Home pools were, once upon a time, pretty much limited to the very rich. And few considered them an "investment."

But not any more, says the National Swimming Pool Institute.

TECHNOLOGICAL advances, manufacturing breakthroughs, and improved construction techniques developed in the mid-1960s have reduced the price of the average pool dramatically.

Last year, for example, statistics show that, on a national average, a home pool costs about $10 a square foot of surface area. That translates to roughly $5,000 for the medium average to $7,500 for the large average pool, prices well within reach of middle income families.

Importantly, many banks and savings-and-loans are now actively seeking pool financing and providing favorable terms of five to eight years for the mortgages.

Apparently, they now understand that family-oriented pool owners are better than average loan risks and that pool loans are superior to those made on automobiles which are similarly priced, but subject to rapid depreciation.

INSURANCE companies found that home pools did not present any real hazard and, so, the typical home owner policy today includes coverage for a pool, whether or not one actually exists.

Real estate sales people report homes with pools move faster than average, and at higher prices. The pool constructed today generally recovers its initial cost and more by adding that value to the home immediately. A $20,000 home, for example, with a $5,000 pool may easily be revalued at $27,500.

Translated into return on investment in, say, the stock market, one would have to save or borrow a lump sum of $5,000, then invest it and the dividends in good securities for at least six or seven years and realize an average return of about eight per cent to match the pool investment. And, even then, you can't swim in stock securities!

CONTINENTALE ELEGANCE — This classic country French room proves you needn't be a Frenchman to live like one. Waverly's all-cotton floral fabric in shades of wine and blue sets the atmosphere here, appearing in Austrian shades, below the window, and on the loveseat and dining chairs. Gracefully styled French provincial furniture further defines the continental look.

Kitchen sink 'snaps' into place -- easily

If the complexities involved in installation have been holding you back from a necessary kitchen sink replacement project — fear no more.

A kitchen sink that "snaps" securely into place, affording the home craftsman with an opportunity of doing it himself with a minimum of time, tools, and effort is now available.

The "Snap-Fast" sink is just what the name implies.

Designed of stainless steel and available in a single or double-bowl model, it offers the assurance of quick, easy installation and professional-looking results, if attention is paid to a few simple but important details.

Step one is to cut an opening in the countertop following directions on the instruction sheet.

Then starting 2-3/4" from the corner, fasten retainer clips to the edges of the opening, making sure that the top flange of the clip fits tightly against the top surface of the counter. Center the remaining retainer clips and nail them into position.

Lay caulking around the center opening.

Next, set the sink (with faucets already attached) into position with Snap-Fast clip on sink flange resting on retaining clips. Make a fist and strike a sharp blow on the top edge of the sink and — presto — the sink will snap into position.

Finally, wipe off any excess caulking and the job is done. To complete the project, a small amount of powder cleanser on a damp cloth will remove any grease and finger marks and result in a shining new sink and a job well done.

The Snap-Fast sink can be ordered through your local plumbing dealer. For more information write to the Home Improvement Editor of The Daily Eagle, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne 48184.

Five candidates run for Van Buren ed board

By HENRY CANTIN

Voters residing in the Van Buren Public School District will go to the polls Monday to select candidates to fill two four-year terms on the board of education which are expiring this June.

There are five candidates seeking to serve on the school board.

Elwood J. Bos, 35, of 2148 Crittendon, Ypsilanti, is seeking his second term on the school board.

HE HAS BEEN a resident of the Ypsilanti community for seven years and in the Belleville area for the last nine years. He is married. He and his wife Myrna, are the parents of three children: Tania, 10; Todd, 5; and Tammy, 5.

Bos, presently employed as an environmental engineer at General Motors Hydra-Matic Division, Ypsilanti, holds a bachelor of science degree in Engineering Technology from Western Michigan University (1964).

He was first elected to the school board in 1971. He is active in the Boy Scouts, Parent-Teacher Action Group (PTAG) at Rawsonville Elementary School, a member of the speakers' bureau at Hydra-Matic Plant and St. Mathews Methodist Church, Ypsilanti.

He is an international representative for the Boy Scouts, was president and vice-president of the PTAG and chairman of the Pastor-Parish Relations Commission at St. Mathews Church.

IN COMMENTING on his second bid for the school board post, Bos said:

"I decided to seek this office because I would be able to continue my service to the Van Buren schools. After serving on the board of education for the past two years, I feel I have a good grasp of the workings of the school system.

Richard A. Hansor

"I would like to use that knowledge for the betterment of the total district. The way I can do this most effectively is by being on the Van Buren Board of Education."

As to his qualifications, Bos added:

"Having served two years on the board of education, I am aware of the over-all problems and situations within the district. Combining these facts will make me effective as a member of the Van Buren Board of Education."

Richard A. Hansor, 28, of 17600 Martinsville Rd., Belleville, is making his second bid for a school board post. He ran in 1972.

Jerry Maton

He has been a resident of the Belleville community all of his life. He and his wife, Beverly, are the parents of three children: Kristy, 7; Karin, 5; and Keith, 3.

Hansor is employed by the Horste Manufacturing Co. of Belleville as purchasing agent and manufacturing engineer. He holds degrees as a certified tool and die designer and certified safety supervisor.

HE IS A graduate of Belleville High School and has attended Arizona State College, Cleary College and Henry Ford Community College.

Hansor currently is vice-president of the PTO at the Haggerty Road School also in Belleville.

He is a member of Society of Manufacturing Engineers and the American Ordinance Association.

In commenting on his candidacy, Hansor said:

"During the year that has passed since I last sought this office, I have not seen any change for our future. One major decision made by our present school board would appear to be costing far more than just the extra money for transportation. It has caused the mistrust of both employees and tax payers of the district. I want to see that trust restored."

JERRY MATON, 50, of 12175 Beckley Rd., Belleville, former Van Buren Township trustee is making his first bid for a school board post. He has been a resident of the community all his life. He and his wife, Irene, are the parents of three children: Mrs. Phyllis Hoag, 25; Linda, 16, and Judy, 14.

He is a graduate of Belleville High School and is employed in the marketing department of the Detroit Edison Co. Maton also is a former township constable (two years) and has served on the township board for 12 years. He was defeated in the 1970 election.

He also served on the township planning commission and the township zoning board of appeals.

He is a member of the VFW Post 4434, Belleville, president of the Belleville - Van Buren Township Goodfellows for the last 20 years and the Dearborn Moose.

ON HIS seeking membership on the school board, Maton said:

"I served on the Van Buren Township Board for 12 years, six years on the planning commission and two years on the zoning board of appeals. "During my tenure on these various boards, I was an independent voice voting issue not party, nor personality. I would bring this same independence to the school board."

As to issues, Maton added: "THERE HAVE been, I think some inequities in the hiring policies of the Michigan School Bus Service Inc. (firm has taken over the school bus system). If at all possible, I think, qualified local bus drivers should be given first consideration.

"The school system needs more contact with the townships and municipal governments in its district. My past experience would help me bridge that gap during these times of exploding community growth."

Theodore Ziolkowski, 31, of 9578 Hamilton St., Belleville, is making his first bid for school board office. He has been a resident of the community for 25 years.

He and his wife, May Irene, are the parents of three children: Theodore James, 15; Theresa Jean, 8, and Timothy Jon, 6.

ZIOLKOWSKI is a graduate of Traverse City Senior High School and is employed by the Bendix Computer Graphics Division as a Quality Assurance of Electrical and Mechanical Assemblies.

He is a member of The Polish National Alliance Lodge, Babe Ruth Baseball manager, and is a bowling league secretary.

"My training in business management and industrial relations should make it easy for me to fit into the school board functions," he said.

"It also will make it possible for me to help set up new programs and negotiate new contracts." He is a former UAW bargaining agent for Local 212.

Ziolkowski said some of the issues are:

Higher standard of education for our tax dollar. Elimination of costly duplication of services. Budgeting to all schools in the district equally. Busing of children, new teaching techniques and equipment, centralization of control within the board, all children should receive an equal education regardless of race, religion, creed, sex or money.

Ziolkowski said he is against busing out of the school district.

Area teachers attend Reading workshops

The PRIDE Project (Providing Reading Impetus through Developmental Experiences), Title III - ESEA, has involved local school district teachers in a series of in-service training sessions. The workshops focus on the use of diagnostic and prescriptive materials for preventing reading failure of early elementary children.

Kindergarten teachers from the following districts are involved in the PRIDE Project: Wayne-Westland, Van Buren, Westwood, Inkster, Romulus and Wyandotte.

Kindergarten teachers in the seven local school districts are diagnosing and prescribing learning experiences for their students in skill development areas that are prerequisites to success in reading.

LAST YEAR, Head Start teachers were involved in a similar training program geared to diagnostic and prescriptive materials at the pre-school level. The pride project followed their children into this year's kindergarten setting, and will offer training next year to the first grade teachers who receive the original group of Head Start children.

"WE WILL NOT BE UNDERSOLD"

CROSS-ROADS — Overcoming a serious achilles tendon injury, ex-Bellefonte High distance runner Jon Cross has made it back to competitive sports. Jon is considered one of the best teen-age distance men in the country today and according to Michigan coach Dixon Farmer, "Jon could make this a very interesting summer."

Sports Meridian

Jon Cross
overcomes
leg injury

By TOM MOORADIAN

Jon Cross didn't run in our All-Area Track & Field Meet last year. The super Bellefonte High distance man suffered from an achilles tendon injury and was sidelined. And many doubted that he would ever run again.

But Cross, who as a Bellefonte sophomore and junior, showed flashes of greatness, never doubted himself. And today he's an outstanding prospect at Michigan in both cross country and track.

"Running means more to Jon than any other distance runner we have," said Michigan Coach Dixon Farmer. "His sacrifices have made him most competitive and he could make this a very interesting summer."

What the 19-year-old freshman has accomplished at U of M is almost incredible.

DESPITE BEING hampered by the achilles tendon, Jon battled to a 35th place finish in the Big Ten Cross country meet in his initial effort last fall.

When Cross moved to indoor track he had bests of 14:17.2 and 14:19 for three miles but was still bothered by minor ailments. Then, he set his goal to run the six mile in the Junior AAU meet and began training with 13 consecutive weeks of over 100 miles. The results proved to be worth the grueling effort.

HIS "BIG TEST" came at the prestigious Penn Relays.

John overcame his handicap and set the school record for the six mile with a 28:55.4 clocking and finished fifth in the impressive field. Hot weather - the plague for distance runners - struck the Big Ten meet field but again Jon managed to come through the battle and place fifth.

What's ahead for the 19-year-old freshman who, despite his busy training and competitive schedule, has managed to maintain a 3.0 grade average?

Well, first of all there's the NCAA meet which will be put on June 7-9 in Baton Rouge, La. Then, following that he will head for Gainesville, Fla. where he will compete in the Junior AAU meet on June 22.

A good showing in Gainesville could open the door for Jon to his first international meet.

He's currently ranked third among all runners 19 and under in the six mile and the top two places at the AAU will face the Soviet Union juniors, so Jon's chances appear to be very good.

As in the proverbial race between the turtle and hare, it isn't always the person who is the fastest that wins, but the person who has "guts" and determination to stick it out - no matter what the odds or circumstances.

games were played Tuesday. Polka Dot Party Store collected 25 hits in a 28-3 rout of National Car Rental. Rich Rakotz led Polka Dot with 4 hits while Jack Slater went 3-for-3. Don Skiff and Bob Brothers also contributed 3 hits. Ralph Rakotz was the winner.

Morgan Manor kept pace with a 19-8 win over Landing Strip Lounge. Greg Brothers, Tom Block and Pete Molnar collected 3 hits each, with Block and Molnar slamming back to back homers in the third inning.

route to a 12-5 win over Traffic Transport. Transport drew first blood in the top of the third when Mike DeCello doubled and Joe Cuccaro singled. Phil Bailey opened Beck-Howell's half of the third with a triple. Al Ellis and Jim Halcomb followed with singles and Hugh Miller was safe on an error. John Sterling singled, Bill Reiber doubled, Ken Mientkiewicz singled and Fred Eberline tripled. Buzz Gallien then chased Eberline home with a long fly ball.

The Carpetmen added three in the fourth when Miller drew a walk, Reiber singled, Eberline doubled scoring two and Dan Leslie singled Eberline home. Singles in the fifth by DeCello, Jerry Trucker and Ed Segota gave the Transporters their second run and they added two in the sixth on singles by Henry Ramsey and Bob Turcheck, two walks and a fielder's choice.

John Sterling scored Beck-

Howell's 12th run in the sixth, opening the frame with a double and scoring on an error. Al Turco scored the game's final run for Transport, reaching second on an error and scoring on Turcheck's single in the seventh. Fred Eberline worked on the hill for Beck-Howell and picked up the win.

Final track listing

What probably was the "rainingest" high school spring sports season in recent years came to an end for local trackmen last Friday with the fifth running of the All-Area Meet at Westland John Glenn.

But, despite the inclement weather, preps set their share of records.

Here is the final track & field listing as compiled by Jerry Szukaitis, Westland John Glenn assistant track coach.

IN THE WINNER'S CIRCLE — Driver Richard Buxton (in racing uniform) and Sports Editor Tom Mooradian discuss Buxton's winning strategy in the Seventh race, a preferred-invitational trot, a race honoring The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers. Buxton took Killbuck Mary around the one-mile oval at Wolverine Raceway Friday night and won in 2:02.4.

Killbuck Mary paid her backers $19.00, $9.40 and $5.60 across the board. Also on hand were Associated Newspapers' general manager Robert Knoke (at right) and sportswriter Dale Gowing (in background, wearing glasses). Others in the photo include owner Henry Critchfield and his family.

Adrian ousts Romulus, 1-0

The last of the local high school baseball teams has fallen.

Romulus, with ample opportunities, failed to make use of them and was eliminated in the pre-district tournament by Adrian last week, 1-0.

Coach Bill Cuhran's Eagles lost out on a bottom of the seventh run which was put on the scoreboard via a pair of sacrifices and a passed ball after a single.

KURT LINDERMAN went the distance for Romulus, striking out five while walking none. He gave up four hits. Meanwhile, winning hurler Rick Smith picked up eight strikeouts and walked two while serving up five hits.

Roy Hollis, Larry Hale, Manuel Delarosa and Steve Pollard got the Eagles' safeties.

"It was a disappointing season for us," remarked Coach Cuhran after the game. "We did so many things well this season, and played exciting baseball most of the time, but we would make some crucial mistakes which would lead to our downfall."

"We really lost some tough ones," he added.

Cuhran completed his second year as the Eagles' mentor with a 7-13 won-lost record. Romulus doesn't compete in a conference.

Area baseball on way

While high school baseball managers are busy collecting gear and equipment, The Association Newspapers and Daily Eagle Sports Department have been collecting data to use in the final selection of the 1973 All-Area team.

And next week Sports Editor Tom Mooradian and Sports-writer Dale Gowing will be able to present the coveted team to the readers.

The team, picked in cooperation with the area coaches, will honor the top ball players from Belleville, Romulus, New Boston Huron, Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Churchill, Franklin, Garden City East and West, Dearborn Heights Robichaud, Inkster and Cherry Hill.

Also to be named will be our "Coach of the Year."

And if fans have any suggestions, let them speak or write now, or forever hold their peace.

Gals start swinging

Saturday's Romulus Ladies Softball action featured a 13-0 shutout by the City Hall Gals over the Ms. Fits.

The Kel-joys trounced the Roadrunners, 21-2, and The Champs bombed the Romulus City Diamonds, 19-5.

PLAV posts No. 4 win

P.L.A.V. remained atop the Belleville Softball League last week with an unblemished 4-0 record after a 9-5 win over seventh-place Belleville Moose.

Blue Boar Inn didn't play but still grasps a 3-0 record, good for second place. Belleville's Teachers kept within reach of the leaders in third at 4-1 with a 10-5 win over fifth-place Auto Air Cargo.

In the loop's only other contest, fourth-place Belleville Jaycees outlasted sixth-place State Police, 22-15 in eight innings.

Belleville Mobile Homes, last place at 0-4, was idle.

The Chiefs closed out their Huron League baseball season in high fashion with three league wins over the weekend, dropping Grosse Ile, 7-5, and Monroe Jefferson twice, 8-1 and 11-2.

The triple-victory boosted Huron's league record to 10-6, good enough for fourth place in the nine-team loop. Carlton Airport, Blissfield, and Flat Rock all finished ahead of the Chiefs.

HURON'S HITTERS, of late overcome by crippling slump, blasted out of the doldrums with 30 hits in the three games while the Chief pitchers kept up their slick pace by allowing only 11 hits all weekend.

Against Grosse Ile Friday, hurler Jamie Hinojosa evened his season mark at 5-5 while relenting nine hits and striking out six. Chuck Pearson was hot for the winners with a single, double and two RBI's.

Huron locked it up in the fourth with five runs on three hits and several walks and hit batsmen.

Ken Delano cuffed Jefferson in the opener Saturday on one hit, while fanning 13 and walking six for his fourth win. Jefferson's only hit came in the sixth on a blooper to center. Gary Whitehouse and Doaker Toth each singled twice for Huron which scored four times in the first to insure the win.

IN THE NIGHTCAP, pitcher Whitehouse baffled Jefferson on two hits in the 11-2 victory and set a record in the process. Whitehouse whiffed 17 batters — a Huron record — and walked six.

Jefferson's two hits came in the fourth — an infield hit — and the seventh on a solid smash to left. Jamie Hinojosa and Dana Kemp had four singles apiece for the Chiefs, finished the year leading all Huron hitters with a .474 average. Kemp, incidentally, was the only Chief to end with an average above .300.

Huron's season record ended at 12-10.

Below Huron in the league standings are Monroe Catholic Central, Tecumseh, Grosse Ile, Monroe Jefferson and Gibraltar Carlson.

Romulus tennis team loses finale

Dearborn Heights Robichaud will get a glimpse at Highland Park's tennis power today in its final match of the 1973 season.

Two two high schools will be competing in the Suburban Athletic Conference next fall and this will give Coach Jim Hadley and the Bulldogs a chance to see what the Parkers have in the way of net power.

Highland Park will host the 3:30 p.m. meeting.

Meanwhile, Robichaud evened up its over-all record to 8-8 on the season by thrashing Romulus 5-32

WHAT A NIGHT FOR KILLBUCK MARY — Breezing to victory in the Preferred-Invitational Trot Friday night at Wolverine Harness Raceway is Killbuck Mary, driven by Richard Buxton who maneuvered the four-year-old mare over the one-mile track in 2:02.2. The race was dedicated to The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers and members of the newspaper were on hand to congratulate Buxton and the owners, Henry & Robert Critchfield. Killbuck Mary, one of the field of none that was neglected by the bettors, paid $19.00, $9.40 and $5.60 across the board.

The Sports Meridian

By TOM MOORADIAN

Success is easily definable. Or is it?

The latest data coming out of Wolverine Raceway, the Livonia-based harness race course, states that "at the end of 68 nights, Wolverine attendance is up 3.4 percent over 1972 with a nightly average of 7,390 compared to 7,117. The total attendance is 483,933.

"And Saturday's handle of $1,051,122 marked the fifth straight week the track has broke the once elusive $1 million betting mark."

Add to that the fact that the crowd of 13,588 was the third largest of the season and marked the second time in three Saturdays the trotters had outdrawn the runners (thoroughbreds), is it no wonder that scribes and experts are seeking out Dick Wilson and Earl Flora to learn the "secret of the success."

WE HAD OUR shot at the two men Friday night, a night that the featured eighth race, a preferred-Invitational trot, which covered one mile and offered a $10,000 purse, was named for The Daily Eagle and The Associated Newspapers.

We were asked to be on hand to present the winner of that race with our congratulations. And, accompanied by Robert Knoske, The Daily Eagle and ANP's general manager, sportswriter Dale Gowing and his lovely fiancée, Sally, we managed to make the trip to Wolverine — and the winner's circle.

"I really don't know how to explain this year's phenomenal success," related Flora, publicity and public relations director at the track as he led us to our table, "but one thing for sure we're doing something right."

"But, to pinpoint it as this or that — I can't. I'm as mystified as any one else. I just hope we can keep on having the success we're enjoying."

WOLVERINE is in the stretch of its season. It has two more weeks to go before the trotters gallop over to Hazel Park and the thoroughbreds take over the Detroit Race Course.

Retirement benefits for state employees eyed

State Sen. John E. McCauley (D), representing the 11th district has introduced a seven-bill legislative package that would completely revise the retirement provisions for state employees.

"For many years, we have neglected the state workers and the problems they have upon completion of their service to Michigan," McCauley said. "I personally feel that one of the major reasons we have increasing difficulty recruiting qualified personnel is the fact that the state retirement system is a relic of the past."

McCauley said that he had been working on the package for several years. He has introduced variations of some of the bills in previous sessions, but this marks the first time that any state lawmaker has submitted a comprehensive plan designed to update the retirement provisions.

ONE OF THE BILLS would increase the minimum retirement allowance from $50 to $100 a month. "It is imperative that we put a $100 a month floor under our pension program," McCauley commented.

Another bill would build a cost of living feature into the retirement benefits. McCauley pointed out that under his system, the payments to retired persons would go either up or down, depending upon the Consumer Price Index.

The long-time Wyandotte senator said such a provision would reflect actual conditions, and would serve as a means of making sure that there would be no need to tinker with the retirement program in the future.

Still another bill would permit retirement at age 55 with 30 or more years of service without loss of benefits. "Thirty and out is a fact of life in many businesses and industries," McCauley said. "If Michigan is to stay competitive in the quest for good workers, the state must match this benefit."

ONE OF THE SEVEN bills would grant full hospitalization coverage for the retiree and his dependents. McCauley said that this bill is a "humane feature" of the package, pointing out that health problems mount during the retirement years, that hospital costs are increasing, and without hospitalization coverage, many workers would lose their life's savings in the event of a catastrophic illness.

Two other bills are of a technical nature. One would permit earlier vesting of retirement rights, and the other would give credit of up to five years for military service.

The seventh bill in the McCauley package reflects the retirement improvements of the other six, but would apply to the Michigan State Police. McCauley explained that State Police retirement is covered by a different act, and thus, to keep benefits fairly uniform throughout state service, a special bill was needed.

McCauley said that the provisions of his bill are not quite as liberal as those found in SB 446, adding that he would not object to SB 446 being substituted for his own legislation.

"IT IS OBVIOUS that this package will cost a considerable amount of money," McCauley said. "I would be more than willing to work out still another part of the plan which would call for increased contributions on the part of state employees, and certainly this program should be considered as a vital part of fringe benefits which are so important to every worker."

McCauley said that he would expect that once the program becomes law, the state would be in a position to recruit "they very best public spirited and dedicated workers," but just as importantly, "retain many of those workers who are now considering leaving state service because of our non-competitive retirement programs."

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Some of our youth find it difficult to understand or believe the gloomy truth about the dread depression of some 40 years ago. Bread was a nickel a loaf. Two to five dollars fed families for a week with tolerable sufficiency. Cigarettes cost a dime. Lots of people "rolled their own." If they could budget the pennies needed for the makings, savings disappeared. Homes were lost. Jobs were scarce, almost impossible to find. When a man was lucky enough to find a job, his spirit, if not his voice exclaimed, "I made it. I made it."

Parents and elders naturally made mistakes in those days. People since then have made and are still making mistakes. It does no good now, any more than it did then, to ceremoniously condemn others, and particularly parents and elders for unhappy, messed up, miserable situations in our world today. It does no good now any more than it did then to blame others for our environment or inherited problems. ALL of us, young and old alike, MUST strive together to solve our common problems. It is a lesson ALL of us must learn from the past.

GI retirement credit for police, firemen proposed in state bill

Bills that would allow for more flexibility in medical expenses for foster children and retirement credit for policemen or firemen with active military service were introduced in the Michigan legislature by Sen. William Faust, D-Westland.

The first bill would let foster parents obtain medical, dental or psychiatric treatment for their children as treatment is needed and without prior approval, and provides for payment of expenses.

"When children need or require medical care, they should receive that help," Faust said. "Their foster parents are charged with determining that need, and we must give them the funds they need when they need them to take proper care of their children."

Another bill introduced by Faust expands credit for retirement benefits for fire and police personnel.

After an employee gathers 15 or more years of retirement system service credit, he will receive service credit for up to five years of active military duty in the armed forces.

Faust said men with experience in the military and years of service as public employees in hazardous jobs deserved the increased benefits.

During spring

Campout club is busy

"Coffee 'N Campfires," Chapter 224 (Belleville area) of the NCHA has had a very busy spring, officials reported.

In March, members had their first club camp-out at Big Portage - only two couples had enough nerve to brave the cold and snow, but they still had their scheduled chile supper on Saturday and roasted hot dogs on Sunday.

April proved to be a little better - eight couples came for the Easter weekend at Bishop Lake State Park. Members had a potluck supper Saturday night even though it rained.

Kids made Easter baskets, dyed Easter eggs, had a Easter scavenger hunt and a Easter egg hunt. Sunday morning all had a Easter morning brunch together.

IN MAY, members had a Mother Day campout at the KOA in Lambertville - four couples participated. Saturday night they had out club potluck supper but the "best" came Sunday morning when the men cooked pancakes and sausages outside for all the "mothers."

On May 18-20, the 11th annual state spring round-up was held at Ionia

Fairgrounds. Approximately 1,700 families attended. The Belleville club had seven families in attendance. The local club finally received its state charter.

Local attendees entered several of the activities. Ann Twydel, 3, 11012 Jackson St., Belleville, was in the tennie queen contest; Linda Stark, in the ladies jarts; Del Gray in the horseshoes; Ken Twydel and Shirley Shettler in the couples jarts; Linda Stark, Lynn Edwards, Hazel Anderson, Shirley Shettler and Ina Gray in the ladies rolling pin tossing contest.

The Belleville group also had a float in the mini float parade. All had fun at the dances for teens and adults, the flea market, contests and parades and finally the campfire programs.

ON MAY 25-28, club members went to the rodeo in Imlay City - five couples braved the cold and wet weekend and reportedly had a good time. The local club (Belleville) had two of its members chosen for the rodeo out of a total of 18 men and six women.

Ruth McGoldrick drove in the women's rodeo, Pat Twydel was her co-pilot. Ruth tied for third place. Cecil Twydel, 72, drove for the men's rodeo and Ken Twydel was his co-pilot.

The harness racing had to be canceled because of the muddy track.

Last weekend the annual flea market was held at Pennsylvania Road and Huron River Drive in Huron Township.

Anyone interested in the Coffee 'N Campfires chapter call Ken or Pat Twydel, presidents, at 697-4742.

with every car at Atchinson Ford

That's just another way to say, we guarantee your car from the road to roof, and from door to door and from bumper to bumper for the first year (or 12,000 miles) you own it.

And we'll help you keep that new car ride that you rightfully deserve. Mechanical service is free, thanks to our exclusive, copyrighted, Free Mechanic Warranty. It covers a lot of the little things that go wrong with your car, like a defective door latch. (Subject to the conditions of the factory warranty.) In addition you get a 15 percent parts and labor discount for the two subsequent years.

Frankly, not much goes wrong with our cars these days. But if it should, we pay the Mechanic.

It's about time a car dealer delivered more than just a car *
